Ride report

Boulder City, September 18th

September 18, 2016 proved to be a great day despite the low hanging clouds and cool fall weather for making the trek to Boulder City located in the scenic Boulder Mountains. A group of MVATV Riders met near the trailhead for a short briefing. Afterwards, our leader in training, Kaden and his Grandfather Glenn Fischer led us on this ride. The road proved to be both fun and adventurous as it tested some skills of the riders. We passed old cabins, crossed Boulder Creek, and traveled a stretch of road that was rocky and covered with water. We even had to maneuver over a rocky stair-step portion of the road that sets along a cliff face.

As we made our climb up to Boulder City, our suspicions were confirmed. The precipitation during the night had left snow on the higher peaks and northern exposures. Throughout the day the temperature remained cool with a few brief rain sprinkles.

Upon arrival at the old Boulder City site everyone took the time to eat lunch and get some snacks. There were lots of things to see and do. Some explored the old buildings nearby while others talked of what it must have been like living there. After lunch we made our way up to the lower lake where some explored the old mine shafts nearby and others took in the awesome views. The peacefulness of being in the mountains at a beautiful lake was rewarding and made the trip well worth the adventure. We finally made our way to the upper basin and a view of the upper lake. Some of the smaller lakes in the area were dry, normal for this time of the year, but the upper lake was still full of water.

We then began our slow descent down the mountain. Some followed the same path they travelled up while others explored the bypass roads for a more gradual descent and to check out the conditions of the bypass roads. On the return trip we stopped at one of the old cabins so people could explore the area.

I would like to thank Kaden and Glenn for leading us on this trip. Kaden did a good job of watching out for the group and ensuring everyone was safe.

Sadly Mother Nature did not cooperate for our National Public Lands Event. scheduled for Saturday the 24th. Friday brought high winds, horizontal snow and cold temperatures so the decision was made to cancel.
